

Statement of Diversity and Inclusion

At the South Vancouver Food Network, we believe that food is a powerful connector that brings people together across cultures, generations, and experiences. We are committed to creating inclusive spaces where all community members regardless of race, ethnicity, ancestry, gender identity, sexual orientation, ability, age, socioeconomic status, or background feel valued, respected, and heard.

We recognize that systemic barriers continue to affect access to food, health, and community resources. Through our programs, partnerships, and advocacy, we strive to center equity, amplify underrepresented voices, and co-create a more just and compassionate food system in South Vancouver.
